The Eastside Boys' Club Story

By Alberto C. Diaz

Secretary, Eastside Boy's Club Board of Directors

Luisito looked into the hot summer sun, kicked an old rusty tin can as he clutched an old broom handle. Running across the wide expanse of field directly opposite him, sidestepping piles of abandoned rubbish, stones and broken glass, came six other youngsters.

The spirited youth were hollering, "andale pronto, come on man, bring the bat, we'll let you pitch!"

On another occasion when the sun wasn't so bright or so hot, there would be groups of other muchachos having a football game on this same field, as if it were the Rose Bowl. Yes, it was strewn with rocks, broken glass here and there, and an occasional area strewn with sawdust.

Sawdust?

Yep, carnivals, fairs and circuses also set up on this huge level piece of land, Si amigos, this was the corner of New York and McDonnell Avenues, hard by Ford Blvd. and Brooklyn Avenue, in the heart of the Belvedere district.

Eventually after all the color, music and lights, the chamacos would once again reclaim it for their juegos, to throw rocks and sometimes to have a fight.

There was a group of men, of many backgrounds, who saw this land — the muchachos playing and fighting — who envisioned a Boys Club. They started their project with nothing more than sheer courage even greater determination and the knowledge that there was a need.

True, it was many years before the land was even obtained but the dream, the vision, always had the Boy's Club situated on this property. The day it was obtained was a big victory and a triumph for the people of the community and especially the youth.

Some years and many sacrifices and disappointments later, ground was broken and buildings started to rise. Youngsters would come and look inquiringly—members of the group of men would come and see their dream in the making.

Soon the buildings were completed — again after many sacrifices and disappointments — but the club was still a long way from opening.

So many problems came up.

But with the buildings up, the hardy group of hombres, now known as the Eastside Boys Club Board of Directors, figured the battle was almost over and soon the announcements were circulating — "the Eastside Boys Club will open soon."

Thus it was that in early October of 1955, this institution came into being. It was officially dedicated and declared in operation by one of its staunch and great supporters, Sheriff Eugene Biscailuz.

Today the Eastside Boys Club stands as a symbol of guidance, dedicated to promote better citizenship among the youth of the community.

Here is this huge spacious club house with its art and craft shop, game room and library. Its huge gym offering plenty of physical activity and organized play, teaching the code of good sportsmanship, attracts hundreds of youngsters. An average of 130 or more daily, with a recorded membership, slightly under 1500, who attend the club and participate in its many activities.

It is here that hundreds of trips ranging from sports events to ice shows, educational treks to the mountains and factories, and the museums are offered day in and day out for the youngsters.

It is here that boys learn to behave and have respect for each other, learn to play together and get along with the other boy.

The Boys Club is fun, its educational and its serious business for their parents as well as other youth minded groups can appreciate the fact, children of the community are learning good ways, to prepare them for a better life in a healthy, clean, active environment, where they can spend free time under friendly, understanding and skillful adult supervision.

The Eastside Boys Club is doing its part in eliminating juvenile delinquency and with every day that passes, the Eastside Boys Club means more to the people of the community in East Los Angeles who have come to accept it as their own.

It also is a rewarding and heartwarming gesture to the group of men who had the vision and courage and who worked so hard to make their dream, the Eastside Boys Club, a reality.

Enjoy the game, the color and music and go home with the knowledge that the ticket you bought is an investment for youth and better citizenship.

INSTITUTO POLETECNICO NACIONAL

by Alberto C. Diaz

Publicity Chairman, Eastside Boys Club

A colorful aggregation of Latin grid warriors, 44 Mexico or Mexico Poli will take the field tonight strong, representing Instituto Politecnico Nacional de against Los Angeles State College and kick-off the college grid season in the Southland.

The two teams will meet in the 4th annual renewal of the International football game at East Los Angeles College Stadium, a benefit tilt with proceeds earmarked for the Eastside Boys Club, 324 N. McDonnell Ave.

The Mexican squad will be headed by Coach Manuel Rodero, a former T quarterback, and will be seeking to avenge a 39-13 embarrassment suffered at the hands of the Diablos in their initial appearance and second game of this International series in '57. In that clash the Burros Blancos led 13-0 at the half and gained over 200 yards only to run out of gas and falter 39-13.

This year the Poli footballers are on a crusade, according to word from Coach Rodero who says this a must win game for his boys. In Mexico City last year the Diablos barely edged out Poli in the final moments in a riotous game that wound up with the score 36-30 and Poli on the State Goal line as the gun sounded to end the game.

Big gun in the Burros Blancos '59 football machine will be quarterback Rudolfo 'El Rifle' Ponce, a deft ball handler, sharp passer and fleet of foot. A outie, the 5 ft. 9 in. Ponce who weighs 76 kilos (167 lbs.), is a heady field general and operates the Mexican squad from a 'merengue' T formation.

(The Mexico team uses Oklahoma style T; Andy Gustafson split-T and once in a while spreads and single wing formations.)

Spelling 'el rifle' Ponce, who fires bullets and generally hits his target will be Carlos Rivera and Sergio Cuevas, both adequate quarterbacks.

At the key half back posts Orlando Camacho, a rangy 6 ft. 1 in. and weighing 175 lbs., will team up with Rosendo Hernandez, a 163 lb. speedster, and rated the best blocker on the Mexico eleven. Hernandez is a stocky 5 ft. 6 in. tall but has the reputation of also being good pass snatcher.

Camacho is a hard runner along the Paul Cameron lines, is a sharp passer, and Coach Rodero tries to catch the opposition flatfooted by having his Mexico gridders shift from a T formation to a single wing with Camacho at tailback working the pass-run option play.

Hugo Ortega, a 143 lb. scooter, and Jorge Dominguez will also carry the pelota for the Burros Blancos, Antonio Tapero and Daniel Hernandez are other backfield swifties that will be unleashed against the Staters.

A 75 kilo (165 lb.) fullback with the handle of Estalin Vacaseydel, rounds out the Burros Blancos backfield. Vacaseydel, as tough as his name is to pronounce, like all Poli back is short on heft and long on swift, is rated a good pass catcher and blocker.

Spelling him at fullback will be Emeterio Dominguez, 168 lbs. and Guillermo Areizaga (a 180 pounder, who has shown plenty of driving power and promise in early summer workouts. Areizaga, according to backfield coach Guillermo Olascoaga, could be the best fullback ever in Mexico's 40 some odd years of American football.

In the forward wall the Poli gridders will be able to field two lines of almost equal strength, however both will have their problems experience wise.

Manning the right and left wing positions will be Raul de La Sierra and Carlos Avila. Sierra is a veteran of three years, stands 5 ft. 10 in. and tips the beam at 176 lbs. A defensive standout, Sierra is as rugged as a mountain, and accomplished blocker and pass snagger. Avila at 6 ft. 1 and 187 lbs. is a first year man on the squad but has shown exceptional ability in workouts for catching aials with his deceptive speed. Defensively Mexico coaches are high on him and is rated the fastest learner on the team.

Gilberto Cervantes and Daniel Perez will also see service at end along with Roberto Almeyda and Gabriel Yapur.

Cornelio Chit, 198, 5 ft. 11 in. and Alfonso Protugal, 176., 5 ft. 9 in. will form the tackle tandem for the Aztec pigskinners. Both are tough, strong hombres with a couple of years experience in the football revolutions and unusually speedy for linemen. Both played brilliantly against L.A. State last year in the game in Mexico and were bulwarks on the line all season long both on defense and offense. A pair of Jorges, Juarez and Carmona are able replacements at the tackles.

Probably the Burros Blancos standout linemen will be right guard Sergio Armenta, a rapid moving hombre with 165 lbs. of heft and plenty of football savvy. Armenta is a deadly tackler and fine blocker. His opposite at the guard position, Hector Palma is an able lineman, fast as any man on the squad and will get the starting nod for the game here. Guards Ricardo Ricardo Zaldivar, Guillermo Becerril, Juan Carranza, Ramon Larrache will all get a taste of battle during the course of the evening.

Mano San Roman, an experienced Center, will handle the pivot position. San Roman, 154 lbs. and 5 ft. 9 in. is a fiery leader with plenty of moxie and grid know how. He's rated one best snapper backers currently playing football down in Mexico and is good candidate for All Mexico honors. The other center for Poli is Carlos Diaz.

The Burros Blancos are expected to arrive in prime physical condition, having started workouts early in August at a football clinic conducted by the University of Miami (Fla.) coaches. The Mexico team will average 156 lbs. in the backfield and the line will average 177 lbs. with lots of agility and speed.

L. A. STATE COLLEGE DIABLOS

BY DON MCCAULEY

As has been the case each of the past eight seasons, the Los Angeles State College eleven that takes the field tonight will be essentially a different one than that of 1958 and when the dust of tonight's game has cleared from East Los Angeles College Stadium, many of "Bud" Adams' questions about his 1959 team will be answered.

If each fan were able to talk with Bud about the Diablos' prospects for this season, he would find out that the likeable LASC mentor expects his club to be a little improved over last year's which finished with a 4-4-1 record. But at the same time he expects every club his team meets to be much stronger than last season.

In general, Adams expects his line to be lighter and faster than in 1958 and he has veterans ready to go at every slot. The backfield is without a veteran at quarterback and will undoubtedly live or die upon the performances of relatively inexperienced newcomers.

Of the 17 lettermen returning for action this year, 12 are linemen. They are led by seniors Dave Ross, Don McKnight, and Irwin "Red" Evans, all outstanding performers last season.

Ross is an end who ranked seventh in the nation in pass receiving in 1958, while Evans, a center, was a junior college All-American at Los Angeles CC in 1957. Co-captain McKnight, probably the Diablos' best all-round gridder, played at San Bernardino JC before entering LASC.

Two veteran halfbacks will also bear watching tonight. Kenny Ruhlen, who shares captains' duties with McKnight, formerly played at Long Beach CC, while his running mate at the other halfback slot, Dick Houser, was an outstanding performer at Pasadena.

Joel Durst, also a returnee from 1958, at fullback and Ray Grieshaber, a 1957 letterman who has been in the service, at halfback, are also important in Coach Adams' plans.

Among the transfers Coach Adams and his staff are relying so strongly upon are backs Ed Paculba (Habor JC), Dave Turrill (Mt. SAC), Chuck Bradford (San Jose State-Pasadena CC), Stan Wilkerson (UC, Berkeley), Jesse Larez (Santa Monica CC), Xavier Suazo (Los Angeles CC), and Ronnie Stein (Los Angeles CC).

Up front Allen Rodgers (Whittier), Richard Serdoz (Chaffey JC), Jerry Walters (Oregon State), and John Ahman (Santa Monica CC) are all being counted upon.

A glance at the results of earlier games in this "international" series shows that LASC elevens have won three and lost but one. Last year's game here in ELAC Stadium saw the Diablos romp to a 23-6 victory over University of Mexico, but their bame with the white Burros of Poly was almost a different story.

It ended with LASC on the long end of a 36-30 score, but Poly had the ball on the Devils' one-yard line when the final gun sounded.

L. A. STATE COLLEGE

BY DON McCALB

When the 700-member Class of 1963 enters Los Angeles State College next week, it will mark another milestone in the development of one of the largest California's 14 state colleges. The freshmen will be the first students to enter the college's lower division program, which is also new this fall.

LASC began operation in facilities shared with Los Angeles City College on Vermont Avenue in Los Angeles in 1949 while two campuses were being constructed—one in the San Fernando Valley and the present one near the San Bernardino Freeway at Eastern Avenue in the San Gabriel Valley. The San Fernando campus became San Fernando State College July 1, 1958, while all of the departments remaining at the Vermont location were moved to the Freeway-Eastern Avenue site.

Predicted enrollment for the 1959-60 school year, LA State's second in its present facilities, is 14,200.

SANDY BUCKNER
Miss L. A. State

Twelve thousand, nine hundred students enrolled in classes last spring.

In addition to the nine permanent buildings on the 95 acre campus, a host of temporary structures are also being used. Athletic facilities include the physical education building, which has classrooms, offices, locker rooms, and a basketball, swimming, tennis, baseball, track, and volleyball; and handball courts.

The football and baseball areas will not be ready for use until next year, while the handball courts and the other hardcourt areas will be ready for use upon completion later this year.

Dr. Howard S. McDonald is president of LASC and heads a faculty of nearly 400 members who offer courses leading to bachelor's degrees in 38 majors and masters degrees in 28.
